Mission is close to the heart of the Open Brethren. Chapters in this book discuss the work and thought of its pioneer missionary, Anthony Norris Groves, as well as other aspects of missiology important for Brethren mission. Other essays move throughout the world’s continents and trace aspects of the history of Brethren mission. They deal with themes that have come to prominence in recent writing on mission, such as the role of female missionaries, issues of enculturation, and the tensions that can arise between foreign missionaries and indigenous Christians. The essays give a sense of the strengths and difficulties in the Brethren encounter with peoples, countries, and cultures. The book has been compiled in honour of a noted historian of nineteenth-century church and of the Brethren movement, Dr Timothy Stunt.

Price: £22.00 per copy, plus £2.85 p per single copy for postage and packing (UK only) (charges for postage and packing of multiple copies will be invoiced at cost).

Available by completing and returning the order form below (which can be completed electronically using MS Word and returned by email if preferred).

ORDER FORM

Please send me (number) copies of Brethren and Mission

Name:
Address:
Postcode:
Telephone:
Email address:

☐ I enclose a sterling cheque drawn on a UK bank for £ (cheques payable to Partnership (UK) Ltd)

☐ I shall pay £ via PayPal function on the ‘Donate & Pay’ page on the Partnership website (www.partnershipuk.org)

Please send the completed form to neil.summerton@btinternet.com or by post to: Abbey Court, Cove, Tiverton EX16 7RT, UK

(To complete the form electronically, place the cursor on the grey box and type in text.)